and offers to be on your team . . . after all, Brian and Danny against you isn't quite fair. Of course, you can't think of anything better than to tell all your friends that you played ping-pong with THREE Partridges!

BIKE-RIDING AT THE RANCH

After you've finished a strenuous game of ping-pong, we step outside again for a rest . . . but not for long! Suzanne has other plans for us! "Let's go for a bike ride," she grins brightly. "But we only have two bikes, Suzanne . . . Danny's and yours." "That's okay . . . You can ride mine and I'll sit on the handle-bar!"

So, the three of us take a ride around the studio . . . and there have been a few changes too! You notice that a lot of new people have come to the ranch since you were there last. Larry Hagman (late of "I Dream of Jeanne") is here filming an episode for his new series!

Of course, all the Bobby Sherman people are at the ranch everyday, as well as some people shooting a commercial, and a group of actors shooting a scene for a movie! The ranch sure has gotten to be a busy place since last season!

Now that we've seen all the changes in the scenery, we head back to the Partridge set. (I'm glad too . . . Suzanne is getting hard to balance on the handle-bars!)

We swing around a corner, and a familiar game of Frisbee is being played by David and Dave Madden! "That's what they were doing the last time I was here!" you think to yourself . . . well, you might as well get used to it! Those two never seem to get tired of that game!

Chris Morgan, the assistant director, comes out of the stage door and tells David that the set is all ready, and it's time to go inside. David gives the black and white frisbee one last flick of the wrist, and is off.

Dave is off too . . . he's finished for the day, and is on his way to his car. Too bad we didn't get a chance to talk to him . . . we'll catch him next visit . . . okay?
